NATG offers on-line continuing education courses for the private investigator industry. Our courses are aimed at educating the private investigator on the topics of insurance fraud.

The IFC Certification has been approved for Private Investigator Continuing Education Credit Hours. Now your investigators can obtain their IFC Certification and continuing education credits for one price, at one location, Fraudeducation.com. In most states, our IFC Curriculum will account for up to 10 hours of continuing education. (Check your state requirements for maximum credit hours obtainable at one facility)

Investigators must maintain their IFC Certification by completing three hours of Continuing Education each year from the IFC Certified Curriculum. These three hours will also account for the state specific required continuing education.
